U.S. BANKS NOT THREATENED BY REICH CREDITS

Morgan Partner Testifies Before Senate Finance Committee

HOUSE ACTS ON ISSUE

Lamont Says His Firm Also Handled 300 Million Loan for France

Washington — (P) — A member of J. P. Morgan and Company said today there had been a cumbersome amount of German short term credit in this country but that it did not endanger American banks.

It was Thomas W. Lamont testifying before the senate finance committee. He said probably 90 per cent of American banks engaged in the process.

"The largest holding of such credits by any one bank is $10,000,000 and that institution is so large that it is not a matter of danger or even of comment," he added.

Lamont told how his company had handled $300,000,000 of loans for France and $28,250,000 for Germany.

As the committee recessed for lunch, the house took up the moratorium measure with the expectation of ratifying it before adjournment, which may be deferred until late tonight.

Lamont told the committee today all but $131,000,000 of the French loans had been repaid.

The loans were made on bonds which the banking concern bought outright, paying France 94, 99 and 89 respectively on each $100,000,000 issue and selling for par, 95 and 94.

He said the difference in the amount received by France and that for which the bonds were sold was not profit but was eaten up by distribution expenses.

Only Small Returns

Mr. Lamont told the committee he was "a little mortified" to tell of the small commission that firm had received from floating foreign bonds in this country.

"I am afraid it will make the sympathy and pity of the committee too much," he said.

He enumerated numerous bond issues the firm handled for Argentina, Canada, Austria and Belgium. The committee was making the study at the request of Senator Johnson of California, a Republican opponent of ratification of the Hoover moratorium.

Lamont said his firm had floated $150,000,000 in long term bonds for the Argentine government.

Although the company made no managing commission on the issue, it did make a profit, Lamont said. He did not give the amount, however.

He enumerated also a flotation of $165,000,000 in long term Austrian bonds on which the firm made a commission of 1 per cent and two loans of $25,000,000 each for Austria with no managing commission.

Loans to Belgium

Lamont said loans totaling $260,000,000 were handled for Belgium from June 1, 1920 to Oct. 23, 1926.

Lamont said the Morgan house was not the agent for these governments and they were free to deal with other agencies.

"We have no fixed agency agreement with any of these governments," he said, "not even the British or French."

The first Austrian loan of $25,000,000 has now been reduced to $18,000,000, he added.

For Canada, Lamont said one issue of $105,348,000 was floated April 25, 1922. The spread of this was 2½ per cent and there was no managing commission.

Senator Colson

Michigan, inquired if it were not a dangerous policy for the issuing house to be trustee of the sinking fund. Lamont said it was a "very wise policy."

Although the company made no managing commission on the issue, it did make a profit, Lamont said. He did not give the amount, however.

He enumerated also a flotation of $165,000,000 in long term Austrian bonds on which the firm made a commission of 1 per cent and two loans of $25,000,000 each for Austria with no managing commission.

Charges of Unethical Practices

Senator Colson, Republican, Massachusetts, asked if the contracts for these loans were submitted to the state department for approval.

"Not the contracts," Lamont replied. He added that President Harding in 1920 asked the banking houses to inform the state department of such arrangements and have the privilege of intervening.

Lamont added that the usual procedure was for the department to send a letter saying it had no objection.

WOMAN AND CHILD DIE IN BURNING DWELLING

Webster, Wis.—(P) — Mrs. Leo Meren, an infant son were burned to death when fire destroyed their farm home 35 miles east of here, early today.

Two other small sons are in a hospital here. It is feared they may die from burns due to the fire and body.

The woman's husband is looking after the child in the fire. He rescued older son, the first trip into the house. He carried the baby out on the second but died shortly after. The flames were so fierce at this time he was unable to save his wife.

PASSES NIXON FUND BILL BY VOTE OF 59-20

Lower House of Legislature Favors Measure After Two-hour Debate

PROVIDES FOR SURTAX

Senate Votes to Take Funds from Supervision of Ekern Group

Madison—(P) — The provision in the administration's $17,000,000 relief bill placing administration of the funds in the hands of the Ekern Unemployment Relief Commission was stricken from the measure in the senate today by a vote of 18 to 1.

An amendment introduced by Senator Walter Polakowski, Milwaukee Socialist, substituting the industrial commission for the unemployment commission, was adopted through the votes of a combination of conservative Republicans and independents. The vote was first taken on a motion to reject. The roll call was:

For the amendment—Barker, Blanchard, Boldt, Daggett, Edwards, Fellens, Goodland, Hall, McHugh, Morris, Mueller, Roche, Shearer, and White, conservatives; Carroll, Nelson, and Gritteman, independents, and Polakowski, Socialists.

Against the amendment—Anderson, Cashman, Cawood, Duncan, Hunt, Karpel, Lourdes, Miller, Roberts, Rush, Stevens, Smith and Zantow, Progressives.

Madison—(P) — The $17,000,000 unemployment relief bill introduced by Assemblyman Robert Nixon, Washington, was passed by the assembly today. The vote was 39 to 19. The measure was then sent to the senate.

As the main administration measure for immediate unemployment relief, the bill levies a surtax on individual incomes in a range of 1 to 30 per cent. A 1 per cent tax is placed on corporation incomes and a chain store tax and a gift tax are provided.

The assembly spent two hours in debate on the measure before it came to a vote.

How They Voted

The roll call:

For Passage—Baker, Bay, Beggs, Blahnik, Burnham, Bush, Callahan, Carow, Detmar, Durbin, Ebbe, Elmer Ellingson, Fierke, Furham, Gamper, Gartner, Gesicki, Gott, Grohmann, Gross, Guile, Hampt, Hartman, Hart, Ingraham, Jackson, Jensen, Karpel, Kretsch, Keller, Kolman, Kuefer, Kussek, Kuptz, Langley, Larson, Lorfeld, Malcho, Emil Meyer, J. D. Miller, W. F. Miller, Nixon, O'Connor, Panzer, Peniston, Rockwell, Tvalads, Rubin, Schmiede, Scheetz, Sieb, Sime, Stuck, Don Smith, Tews, Weiland, Wied and Zittow—59.

Against Passage—Edmund Burns, Charbonneau, Engel, Fox, Graves, Husler, James Kretz, La Bar, Laffey, Murray, Parker, Powell, Shager, E. G. Smith, Steele, Westfall, Young and Perry—19.

Paird—Harmer for and Mulder against; Naure for and Larson against; Borsen for and W. A. Meyer against; Gehrmann for and Stephens against; Hall for and Davies against; Lang for and Rasmussen against.

Absent or not voting—Huber, Hoss, Long, Schmidt, Tremaine, Wanzen and Watzke—1.

Assemblyman Edward H. Kuefer, Racine, opposed the bill because he said the city would contribute $1,200,000 in taxes and receive in return only $100,000 for relief and $100,000 in grants in the property tax. He contended the tax would be a heavy burden on the wage earner. He said the city of Racine was making provisions to take care of the unemployed.

As mailman Jerome Fox, Clinton, Democrat, said not many members of his party were represented in the assembly but that all opposed the bill.

He said it was a action to an effort for the removal of an internal obstruction she underwent Wednesday. A crisis is expected within the next 12 hours.

The Police action was reported today to have a temperature of 102 degrees, as compared with 99.5 degrees yesterday. According to a bulletin issued last night, Miss Negri passed "fairly well."

One blood transfusion has been reported to be an effort to save the life of the actress, and it is likely her physician said, that another may be made.

Explains Tax Increase

The contention of Mr. Budlong, Marquette, attempted to prove by tax commission figures that the general property tax under progressive administration had increased while under the conservatives it had been held in check.

Investigates Deaths Of Nebraska Indian Children

Washington—(P) — Investigation of the transportation and the care of the westward operations on the stock exchanges was asked today by Senator Thomas, Democrat of Oklahoma. He blamed the decline in price of securities resulting from lack of food.

Each of the four deaths, Koster said, were of youngsters from four months to two years old.

The first death occurred Nov. 19 in the family of Mrs. Robert B. Bales. The second was several days later when a child of the Thomas Knudson family died. That child was in the Lone Wolf family, and the fourth was a child of Charles Johns.

The first two families are Ponca Indians, the others are of the Sioux-Santee.

Two other deaths were reported Tuesday by Cotteron, Compton

NO MONEY PAID TO WIN RELEASE, POLICE CERTAIN

Mrs. Donnelly Describes Abduction and Captivity by Three Gangmen

Kansas City—(P) — Nervous but unharmed after almost 36 hours in the "lilys" rendezvous of three kidnappers, Mrs. Nelly Donnelly, wealthy founder of a Kansas City garment company, and George Blair, her Negro chauffeur, were freed by their captors early today.

They were released from a motor car near the Kansasaville bridge on the Kansas side of the city and soon were back at the Donnelly home. Their return marked the end of a period of anxious waiting by her husband, Paul Donnelly, and his attorneys who were at a loss as to how to get in touch with the abductors for the delivery of $75,000 in ransom, demanded under a threat of death to Blair and blindness for the woman.

L. M. Siegfried, chief of police, said he was certain no money had been paid the men. Police squad cars and deputy sheriffs set out at once in a renewed search for the kidnappers.

Mrs. Donnelly said she and Blair were taken from the rendezvous about 30 minutes before they were put out of a motor car. She quoted one of the men as saying: "Another man will be along soon to pick you up in a little bit."

Police Notified

In the meantime Chief Siegfried had received an anonymous telephone call which instructed him where to find the victims. Accompanied by other officers he drove down Kansasave to the designated place.

They failed to find the victims, but after cruising around a woman stepped out and asked:

"Is this the car that came for me?"

The woman was Mrs. Donnelly. Blair was with her.

Mrs. Donnelly was hysterical when she first entered the police car but soon recovered her composure sufficiently to tell a connected story of the abduction.

The kidnaping occurred at her home late Wednesday as she was returning from her downtown office. As Blair drove into the driveway another machine pulled in. Three men got out.

Blair was forced to move over from the wheel and two of the men got into the rear seat with Mrs. Donnelly. As the car moved away the men started to kidnap her.

"That got my Irish up," she said. "And I fought. But they finally got the sack over my head."

Both men were blindfolded and, after a 20 minute drive, they were transferred to another car.

"We went out Brooksie-blvd to Huntington-dr," she related. "I was kicking and screaming all the way, trying to attract the attention from the stream of motorists. The chauffeur was on the floor between the driver of the kidnappers' car and another of our captors. Blair drove carefully and pressed a revolver into the side of my chauffeur."

She said that once when the car slowed down she was tempted to make a leap. She said she was afraid to jump for fear of being run over by another car.

"It was 6 o'clock when they captured me," she said. "We drove for a long time and then we were taken into a dark house. I was seated in a small calber rifle, apparently Lutz's property, lay some distance away from the body. It had been discharged but a ballistics expert declared the bullet that killed Lutz was larger than that used in the white rifle."

From their escape, 65 years ago today, they had snared all intentions and proffered aid. They lived themselves observing their ancient customs and performing the wildest dances found in the Navajo country.

But a runner has come out of the mountains to the Sativa Springs Trading post, the nearest settlement and asked for relief for his fellow tribesmen and their flocks. Sunlight John Hunter and he gathered from the runner that the Indians were not starving, but supplies were low and fear of consequences caused this, their first appeal to the whites in history.

Supplies will be started immediately.

CHARGE FOREMAN SOLD STATE JOBS TO WORKERS

Kenosha—(P) — Charges that John Ruffalo, section foreman, and Am. Brose W. Highland, general foreman on the Northwestern railroad track elevation project here, accepted $1 in exchange for jobs, were made yesterday by the state railroad commission. The charges were made by William Kornack, Peter Latza and Martin W. Kornack, former workmen on the project. Highland denied the charges but Ruffalo had disappeared when called to testify. The commissioners took the case under advisement.

Jack Diamond, New York Gang Leader, Slain By Underworld

SHOT AFTER HE IS ACQUITTED OF KIDNAPING

Foes' Bullets Reach Him While He Is Celebrating Verdict

Albany, N. Y. — (AP) — A New York report that two gunmen had been hired by a Manhattan gambler to "get" Jack Diamond because of his suspect part in a $25,000 extortion interested investigators of the mysterious slaying of the gangster in a rooming house here today.

Albany, N. Y. — (AP) — Jack (Legs) Diamond, 36-year-old gangster chief, was mysteriously shot to death in a rooming house here today a few minutes after he had left a party celebrating his acquittal of kidnaping.

Three bullets were fired into his brain at close range, and apparently as he struggled with his assailants. The body was found sprawled across a bed in a room at 67 Dovest which he had occupied with his wife.

Mrs. Diamond, hysterical, was held by the police. "I didn't do it. I don't know anything about it," she cried repeatedly.

Two women who operated the rooming house and a taxi driver, presumed to have driven Mrs. Diamond from the party, also were questioned by the officers.

Diamond was acquitted of kidnaping by a Troy jury last night. The celebration began around midnight. Diamond left the revelry between 4 and 5 a.m., and alone drove to the rooming house in a taxicab.

Woman Saw Slayers

Mrs. Mervin Wood, the rooming house keeper, said she heard several shots soon after the taxicab left, and several men rushed down the stairs from the upper floor where the Diamond lived.

"They paused at the foot of the stairs and one said:

"Oh, hell that's enough."

It was for when Dr. Thomas H. Holmes of Delmar, arrived around 6 o'clock Diamond was dead. It was some time after that before the police were summoned and it was rumored that their first information came from gangster calls from Chicago and St. Louis asking if Diamond had been "rubbed out."

While no immediate motive for the murder came to light, Diamond's underworld activities supplied many reasons why gangland wanted him removed.

One of the bullets that ended the gangster's life ripped through the base of the skull and the other two were fired into the side of the head near the right ear. His face, twisted and distorted indicated to the examining officers that he had been seized as he entered his room and as he struggled to free himself the assassins shot him, afterward tossing the body onto the bed.

New York — (AP) — For half of his 32 years—from the time he was first arrested on a burglary charge in 1914 until bullets ripped out his life in an Albany, N. Y., rooming house today—John T. (Legs) Diamond, once of Philadelphia, was in bitter conflict with the forces of society on one hand and his rivals in the underworld on the other.

In the period from 1914 to 1926 he was arrested and released 15 times on charges of burglary, assault and robbery, grand larceny, material witness, fugitive from justice, violation of the Sullivan anti-gambling law, homicide and felonious assault. He was sentenced to five years in Fort Leavenworth in 1919 for army desertion and stealing in the service, but served only one year, receiving a federal parole.

In 1926 he fell into the toils of the law in a police drive to snuff a war between east side and west side "gorillas" over the protection concessions from big gambling and narcotics vending agencies. Some time earlier Arnold Rothstein spotted him as a likely lad and hired him as a bodyguard in his manifold enterprises.

The federal authorities in 1927 arrested "Legs" on a narcotics smuggling charge. He pleaded not guilty and was sent his way in $15,000 bail. The case never came to trial and the bond never was revoked.

Wounded by Gang

Severing connections with Rothstein about this time, the "bad man" signed on as understudy to Jack O'Gier, better known to the trade as "Little Angle," who was engaged in persuading strike breakers not to break strikes. He had the misfortune to be talking with "Little Angle" when his rivals appeared and he spent a month in the hospital recovering from his mistake. He was fined and liberated.

Then came the end to Rothstein's tempestuous career. His former bodyguard was sought for what the police call "grilling" but detectives admitted he was not suspected and the inspector in charge of the case said flatly "I know Diamond had nothing to do with it." Diamond himself confessed he knew Rothstein "only slightly" and told headquarters that if they were looking for a motive in the slaying "there were dozens of persons with a motive for killing Rothstein."

Tony Marlow was slain in 1928 in front of a midtown hotel and the law made another pass at Diamond. Again it was a fluke. In 1929, two men were shot in the Hotsy Totsy Night club and authorities pinned an indictment on Diamond with the thought that he was in the bag at last. But Diamond had slipped away and he did not surrender until eight months later when the state's five most important witnesses had disappeared. The affair was tabled.

Discovery of an extensive arsenal in a Brooklyn apartment, supposedly occupied by the gang leader's benchmen, the disappearance of a Kingston, N. Y., roadhouse keeper and the finding of his blood-stained automobile in a garage near here, brought Diamond into the lime-light again. Diamond was not to be found, but word leaked out he was aboard the liner Belgenland and police wires between here and European capitals began to hum.

As a result, France barred him from her shores, Belgium shunted him into Germany and Germany hustled him across the gang plank of the first vessel that would take him—a freighter. He arrived in Philadelphia some two weeks later and was promptly thrown into jail as a vagrant. Released once more, he returned to New York.

NEW PERIOD OF PROSPERITY IS SEEN BY BRITON

But He Says Breakdown Will Come First Unless Needed Steps Are Taken

(Sir George Paish, one of Great Britain's most noted economists and former financial adviser to the chancellor of the exchequer and the treasury tells, in the following exclusive interview for the Associated Press, how the world, in his opinion, can look forward to "the greatest prosperity ever experienced" if the proper measures are taken. He outlined the measures he believes necessary.)

BY EDWARD STANLEY (Copyright, 1931, Associated Press)

LONDON — (AP) — The world is standing on the threshold of the greatest prosperity it ever has experienced—if only the necessary steps are taken—Sir George Paish, noted British economist and member of the British official mission to the United States in 1914, said today in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press.

Three of the chief recommendations made by the noted economist are:

1. Federal and state temporary bank guaranty acts.

2. An international conference at which every nation would be ready to make contributions to world recovery.

3. Revision of reparations payments to insure eventual repayment of Germany's commercial debt which he estimates $2,250,000,000.

It is possible, he said, to revive trade immediately to a marked degree and to banish the fear complex now besetting the nations.

Sir George recently affirmed his belief that a world breakdown is approaching, not more than two months away, and he made today's statements while reiterating this warning. If the necessary revival measures are not taken, he said, the breakdown will force them upon the world.

Nations Must Act "I haven't any doubt," he said, "but that we are going into the greatest period of prosperity the world has ever seen—if the necessary measures are taken. I'm sure there are enough reasonable people in the world to see that these measures are taken and that, by 1932, we will see a very different situation.

"According to some very high authorities," he said, "an almost complete breakdown will hit the world within the next two months. The real danger is a breakdown of world credit. Whether the breakdown comes depends partly on the outcome of the German reparations and the commercial debt conferences now taking place.

"The breakdown prediction was based on the belief the French intend to insist on the priority of reparations over commercial debts, which means that there is a great uncertainty whether commercial debts can or will ever be paid. Those debts are now computed at some $2,250,000,000.

"That affects the position of bankers and business firms in all countries—the United States, Great Britain, Holland, Switzerland, and France itself, to some extent—whose activities in providing credit for distributing commodities in all parts of the world are mainly instrumental in making the credit machine operate efficiently.

Credit Essential

"If no credit is available for the movement of produce and goods from country to country, or even from district to district, trade must inevitably come to a standstill."

Sir George referred to United States domestic trade. Wheat and cattle, he said, move into Chicago from the west by means of credit operations. He predicted an enormous further shrinkage in the incomes of city dwellers, as well as producers, if stagnation occurs.

"The governments of the world should stand behind the banks to prevent the machinery from breaking down," he said, pointing to the way the French government is backing the Bank of France by making good its losses due to the drop of the pound sterling.

"Internal credit corporations in the United States help out but they don't meet the situation. They are to enable institutions to realize on their good assets and for getting money, but they are not for the purpose of making good losses. It is the losses, not the lack of liquidity, that threaten stability. Losses such as depreciation of stocks, bonds, farm mortgages and real estate."

For the United States, he said, "it would be necessary for the federal government to guarantee the solvency of state banks."

"I am thinking," he said, "not of America only, but the banks of all countries. This would restore a confidence equal to that of the people in their own government ad it would be intended only as a temporary measure."

Remove Fear Complex

"It would restore a measure of confidence immediately, take away extreme anxiety and destroy at once the fear complex that is gripping the world."

Government not bankers, are responsible for the present situation, Sir George said he believed. "The banks," he said, "did not create the impossible reparations payments or the situation which rendered the payment of reparations and inter allied debts extremely difficult, or the tariff barriers of all nations which have blocked effectively the currents of commerce."

"Indeed, but for the willingness of the bankers to grant credits there would have been a collapse when the great war expenditures ended. No one can do the impossible, not even bankers. It is impossible to continue when the whole world is overburdened, including the people of the United States as individuals."

"I should like to make it quite clear that even if a breakdown of

REMODEL BUILDING FOR NEW QUARTERS OF FIRST TRUST CO.

Changes Also Will Provide Additional Space for First National Bank

A remodeling program, which will find the First Trust Co. occupying quarters in the building vacated Wednesday by the Markow Millinery shop at 206 W. College Ave., and provide more room for the First National bank, has been undertaken there. Present quarters of the First Trust Co. will be used for the savings account department of the bank. Work will be rushed so that changes will be completed by Jan. 1, it was announced this morning by M. D. Smiley, vice president of the First National bank and First Trust Co.

The Fred Hoeppner and Sons company holds the contract for the carpeter work and the Greunke Bros. Construction Co. will do the mason work.

The entire wall, separating the present quarters of the First Trust Co. and the old millinery shop will be removed, providing one large room. The wall between the bank and present quarters of the trust company will be enlarged.

One of the major changes will be the elevation of the floors in the old millinery shop and trust company to the level of the tile bank floor.

Seven new coupon booths will be installed in the trust company quarters for the convenience of patrons. Other new fixtures also are to be provided. The interior of the structure will be entirely redecorated.

There will be only one entrance to the trust company through the lobby of the First National bank building, it was stated. The front of the new trust company quarters will be enclosed in glass with no day entrance.

Four new tellers' booths are to be installed in the savings department quarters. Present booths of the trust company will be moved to the firm's new quarters to provide space for the savings department cages.

Miss Fronia Markow, proprietress of the millinery shop has opened temporary quarters in the old Citizens National bank building.

curs it will be possible, and necessary, to repair it at once and the governments must then do what they should have done sooner to prevent the breakdown.

Benefit to Trade

"They should have taken those measures to cause trade to move freely, to cause basic products to recover and generally to increase the world's buying and selling power, thus enabling all nations and all peoples to meet their obligations."

The remedies, he said, include a conference of world statesmen to face the situation.

"It demands that the statesmen come prepared to make the largest contribution possible to the restoration of the whole world and to enable their own countries to recover prosperity."

Any world power, he said, is competent to call the conference, which might become an outgrowth of the disarmament conference, but it would be best that the United States issue the call because of its detached position and its ability to form just judgments.

One of the most hopeful, he said, is the awakening of the Asiatic millions, which includes Russia, and their demands for higher standards of living in which the material resources of the western world play a big part.

South America, he said, because it is a big producer, is bound to feel great distress until the situation is rectified and it will gain together with the rest of the world, when a solution is reached. Because of immigration conditions he said he saw South America as a European outlet, as the United States once was. This, he said, should greatly increase the prosperity of the southern continent.

PLAN ANOTHER STUDY COURSE IN LANDSCAPING

Dr. Franz Aust to Be Brought Back to Appleton for Lecture Series

Dr. Franz Aust, Madison, instructor in the horticulture school of the University of Wisconsin, and university landscaper, will be brought back to Appleton early next spring for another series of lectures, it was decided as a meeting of Appleton vocational school board of directors Thursday afternoon.

A dinner preceded the business meeting. The dinner was served by students in the home economic department of Miss Alice Burke.

The university instructor conducted a class in landscaping, starting on March 30 last spring, under auspices of the Appleton Post-Crescent and vocational school. There were 143 persons from Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah, Menasha, Hortonville and other cities in this vicinity in the class.

It is expected that Dr. Aust will be available early enough next spring so class members will be able to receive instructions before they start their spring planting of flowers and shrubbery, it was stated.

The board also decided to cooperate with the University of Wisconsin extension division in offering a course in advanced accounting. The instructor will be W. J. Schenck, Appleton. Mr. Schenck has been conducting similar courses in other parts of the state.

Appleton People Wait For King Winter To Cast Spell

Old King Winter better hurry.

He's got until 2:30 Tuesday afternoon to cast his spell over Appleton, or else admit carelessness, neglect of duty, oversight, or some such horrible blunder. The official season setter, the World's Almanac, says winter will arrive in Appleton at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon—but there are those who are beginning to think that Old Man Winter is just a myth, or that someone has some sort of powerful drug with the old man. He didn't bring snow for Thanksgiving, he isn't helping Christmas shopping with his looks, and it's very much likely like he'll let Tuesday, and even Christmas Day, go by without a bow.

Dec. 21 is usually considered the opening day of winter, but the Almanac says it starts at 2:30 the afternoon of Dec. 22. However, the sun rises and sets at the same time on both Monday and Tuesday—rises at 7:26 and sets at 4:30—so they both are really the shortest days of the year—eight hours and four minutes.

LEAGUE FAVORS BILL EXTENDING PAYMENT OF TAXES

A bill before the state legislature proposed to again extend the tax time of cities, villages and towns until June 1, 1932, a communication from the Wisconsin League of Municipalities to Mayor John Goodland, Jr.

The story as told the court Wednesday was that John Tisev, of Jugo-Slavia, acquired the passport of Anton Turk and came to the United States leaving his wife and children in the old country.

Mark Turk claims she met Turk in New York as his wife. She said she did not know he originally had a family until after his death. She was named beneficiary of $1,000 insurance as his wife by Turk. No beneficiary was named for another $1,000.

Frances Tisev, the lawful wife, appeared to claim all the insurance.

From 1922 until his death Turk, or Tisev, had provided generously for his family across the ocean.

Mrs. Tisev claims her maiden name was Frances Turk, and that they were married in May, 1918, in Calumet, Mich. They went to Jugo-Slavia in 1913.

Scouts, Sportsmen Erect Stations To Feed Birds

Appleton boy scouts, working under the direction of H. W. Eberhard, George Kitchen and Ernest Melcher of Black Creek, members of the Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association, have constructed a number of winter feeding stations for game birds in the neighborhood of Black Creek.

The illustration shows how the shelters are built of brush, with the open side facing the southwest, so that the birds will drift in. Each shelter is provided with a feeding hopper, large enough to hold about one bushel of grain and so constructed that the grain will drop from the storage bin into the feeding troughs as the grain is eaten by the birds. This keeps a constant supply of food where the birds can get at it easily, and at the same time makes it necessary to visit the feeding stations only occasionally.

The hoppers were constructed by the boy scouts under the direction of Walter T. Fox, in the practical arts department of the McKinley junior high school. The cost of furnishing the grain for these stations, of which more than 20 have been erected in various parts of the country, is being borne jointly by the Izaak Walton league, the Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association, and by farmers living in the neighborhood. Each station will be visited at regular intervals during the winter to refill the storage bins.

The vegetable market is quoted as follows: Green beans, 10 and 15 cents a pound; new carrots, 5 to 8 cents a pound; new beets, 5 to 8 cents a bunch; celery, 15 cents a bunch; head lettuce, 15 cents a head to two heads a bunch; red cabbage, 4 and 5 cents a pound; celery root, 10 cents per root; fresh peas, two pounds for 25 cents, and vegetable oysters, 15 cents a bunch; spinach, 15 cents a pound, and cucumbers, 20 cents each.

Summer squash is retailing at prices ranging from 5 to 10 cents each; sweet potatoes, six pounds for 25 cents and up; brussel sprouts, 25 cents a quart; broccoli, 10 cents a bunch; cauliflower, 25 to 35 cents a head; garlic, 35 cents a pound; silver skin onions, 8 cents a pound; chives, 25 cents a pot, and honeydew melons, 25 to 35 cents each.

Parsley is still holding out for 10 cents a bunch; celery, cabbage, 10 to 15 cents a bunch; rutabagas, 5 cents a pound; parsnips, 10 cents a bunch; turnips, 10 cents a pound; radishes, 5 to 10 cents each.

Consider Improvement Of Airports In Fox River Valley Cities

MAIL POUNDAGE IS SUFFICIENT, OFFICIALS FIND

Conditions of Runways, Lack of Lights, Considered Chief Faults

Ways of improving airports in Appleton, Green Bay, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac to assure continuation of airmail for the Fox river valley cities were discussed at a meeting of postal officials, airport operators and businessmen of these cities at Conway hotel yesterday noon. The meeting was called after it was learned that the postoffice department is making a survey of airmail routes with the view of discontinuing those that are not receiving proper support either in the amount of mail they are carrying or in the care of landing fields.

Postoffice officials apparently are quite well satisfied with the mail poundage carried from these cities, but there is some dissatisfaction with the condition of the airports. All of them, it is said, are in need of improvement, and there was a suggestion that all of them should be lighted so that a later afternoon schedule can be maintained for mail planes.

The Appleton airport apparently presents one of the most difficult problems because its owners are disinterested in the property and are not willing to invest in further improvements. It was suggested that some of the runways here are too short, that the field should be lighted, that there is a hazard from power wires near the field and that some of the runways are not in the best of condition.

Referred To Committee

Major John Goodland explained that the whole matter of the airport has been turned over to a council committee for investigation and it was suggested that Menasha and Neenah might be interested in maintaining the airport as a tricity venture. The first step in this direction will be an endeavor to obtain direct mail service from Menasha and Neenah to the airport instead of through the Appleton post office. In that way both of the Twin Cities will be listed on the air mail maps and there will be a substantial improvement in service.

Several suggestions for improvements in all the ports were made by Richard Pierce, pilot for the Northwestern Airways who carries the mail through the valley. Representatives of the Fond du Lac airport disclosed that they already are working on a program for lighting the landing field and that they have other important improvements in mind. Oshkosh and Green Bay also are improving runways and when these improvements are completed the fields will be in first class condition except for night lighting.

A. D. Murphy, secretary of the Green Bay chamber of commerce, outlined the purpose of the meeting and at his suggestion it is probable that a meeting of Menasha and Neenah business men will be arranged soon to discuss the possibility of cooperation of those two cities with Appleton in the maintenance of the George A. Whiting airport.

HEAR CLAIMS OF INJURED FIREMAN

Settlement of Nick Reider Case Deferred Pending Examination

Settlement of the case of Nick Reider, Appleton fireman, burned in the bakery fire on Aug. 6, 1929, which was informally discussed before the Wisconsin Industrial commission examiner Friday morning, was deferred until an examination is made by a doctor appointed by the commission. Mr. Reider was burned about the hands, legs, back, arm and face when a keg of boiling grease spilled on him as he and other firemen were attempting to remove it from the basement of the burning building. The question of compensation depends upon the extent of disability caused by a permanently injured finger and facial disfigurements.

The case of G. R. Worcheseck, 117 W. Brewster st., against Quinn Brothers, Neenah, and two wage claims were heard Friday morning. W. Spencer inherited. The former Miss Wyndham, w/o is a niece of Worcheseck. He suffered a right kidney rupture, which caused a hemorrhage, where he was helping to lift a frigidaire on Sept. 1. The wage claims were those of Carl W. Ziegler, 1319 W. Rogersave, against Arthur Sawyer, Neenah; and Hugo Minkey, Watertown, against Robert Nowak, route 2, Dale. Both claims were settled.

The two cases heard Thursday afternoon were Fred Anthony versus Outagamie Co. Highway commission and Louis Citz, High Cliff, against the Western Line and Company, Milwaukee. Mr. Anthony asks compensation for an injured knee received when a pick handle hit his knee while he was excavating a well on May 28, and Mr. Citz seeks damages for a broken leg, received on June 13, 1930, when his leg became caught between two stones.

OPTIMIST CLUB HEARS ABOUT VALLEY SCOUTS

A reel of motion pictures showing work Optimist clubs are doing with boys was shown at the meeting of the Appleton club Thursday noon at Conway hotel. M. G. Clark, valley council scout executive, talked on activities of his organization in the valley. The remainder of the program featured musical numbers.

Howland Spencer Weds Mrs. Emeline H. Olin

The much-married soldier of fortune, Harold (now Howland) Spencer, of Appleton, has re-enlisted in the ranks of the Benedictines for the fourth time. This time the bride is Mrs. Emeline Harriman Olin, widow of Steph H. Olin, and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harriman of New York. The marriage is the bride's third venture and Spencer's fourth.

According to the New York Times, the marriage was a surprise, for no formal engagement had been made of their engagement. Only the bride's sister, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, who was matron of honor, and Captain R. Drake White, U. S. N. supervisor of the Port of New York, who was best man, witnessed the ceremony, performed by Commander John W. Moore, senior naval chaplain of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer will motor south on their wedding trip, and upon their return will live in New York, where Mrs. Spencer is president of the importing firm of Chandler, Spencer and Loary, Inc.

The bride's first husband was William Earl Dodge, son of the philanthropist of the same name. After the death of Mr. Dodge his widow was married to Stephen H. Olin, a widower. Mr. Olin died several years ago.

Changed His Name

Mr. Spencer, who several years ago changed his name from Harold to Howland, has friended in and out of the divorce courts so often that the public has a tough time keeping count. The New York Times says this is his third marriage, but Appleton recording list three wives prior to this last marriage.

His first wife was Mrs. Amanda Chambers-Lloyd-Perry Ballantine, the 42-year-old widow of George Ballantine, a noted sportsman. The two met on a trip to Europe in 1911, and they were married a month later in Cairo, Egypt. A student at Annapolis Naval Academy, Spencer resigned to marry Mrs. Ballantine, who had been married three times previously. After their return to this country Spencer gained wide notoriety as the result of a quarrel with his wife in a New York hotel in which, it was reported, he bombard her with cinders. A reconciliation followed, but later they were divorced.

Just prior to the war Spencer went back to Europe, and when the kingdom of Albania was formed the former Appleton boy was made chief of staff to the king, the former Prince of Wied. At the outbreak of the war a revolt destroyed the kingdom, and Spencer fled from the country with the royal pair. Shortly after he returned to this country and became associated with a magazine. After a few months he returned to Europe and was with the fighting forces in Palestine and in other countries in the Near East. Later he went back to London where he was a candidate for election to the British parliament.

Married In London

In 1913 he was married in London, England, to Isabella Beattie Spencer, daughter of Sir James and Lady Beattie of St. Andrews, Scotland and London. His divorce from her in 1927, granted by Judge Theodore Berg, successor to Judge Spencer, brought further notoriety to Spencer. He charged that when he returned from a business trip in Europe he found that William MacQueen, an old friend, had been occupying a room in the Spencer apartment for several days prior to Spencer's unexpected return. Mrs. Spencer, though she threatened many damaging revelations, did not contest the suit, but returned to England before the divorce was granted in the Appleton court.

Spencer's third marriage to Miss Olivia Wyndham, daughter of Colonel Guy Wyndham of Ramsbury, Kilkisire, England, which took place in May, 1930, ended recently in divorce. Takes Third Bride

That marriage took place in the spring of 1930 at Crum Elbow, the country estate on the Hudson which Mr. Spencer inherited. The former Miss Wyndham, w/o is a niece of Worcheseck. He suffered a right kidney rupture, which caused a hemorrhage, where he was helping to lift a frigidaire on Sept. 1. The wage claims were those of Carl W. Ziegler, 1319 W. Rogersave, against Arthur Sawyer, Neenah; and Hugo Minkey, Watertown, against Robert Nowak, route 2, Dale. Both claims were settled.

The two cases heard Thursday afternoon were Fred Anthony versus Outagamie Co. Highway commission and Louis Citz, High Cliff, against the Western Line and Company, Milwaukee. ## CENTER VALLEY STORE LOOTED BY BURGLARS

Several cartons of cigarettes and tobacco and several pairs of socks were stolen from the small grocery of Melvin Wilson at Center Valley early this morning. The burglary is being investigated by Sheriff John Lappan. Entrance was gained through a rear window of the building. Mr. Wilson said he thought the burglar was committed about 1 o'clock because he heard his dog barking about that hour.

GUILTY OF EMBEZZLING

Milwaukee—(AP)—Municipal Judge George Shaughnessy today had under advisement the guilty plea of Stanley Roth, 41, charged with embezzling $17,000 from his mother's estate. The charge carries a penalty of 20 years' imprisonment.

HAND OF STEEL LEADS RAIL MEN IN WAGE FIGHT

D. B. Robertson, President of Brotherhood, Rose from Ranks

Cleveland (AP) — A hand of steel in a glove of silk.

Such the hand of D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, who as chairman of the labor forces wrote the statement at the close of the negotiations between railway and labor executives signaling the opening of a battle over wages.

Diplomatic, cultured, a polished gentleman, Robertson represents the aristocratic school of the labor movement, yet he came up the avenue of toil and hard knocks.

In his fights he has resorted to diplomatic methods and employed argument and persuasion to win his point, yet when diplomacy failed he has been as inflexible as a bar of steel.

The brotherhood chief quit school at the age of 12 to go to work in a Youngstown bolt works. He worked in brick yards and machine shops. He eked out an education from night schools and by correspondence. Polish was added by reading. In 1895 he began his railroading as an engine wiper for the Pennsylvania and continued as hostler, fireman and engineer for the Erie until 1913.

Meanwhile he was working his way up in brotherhood circles. After serving as chairman of the grievance committee on the Erie, in 1913 he became vice-president of the organization.

Now 55 years old, he has served as president since 1922. The firemen and enginemen never have been split by internal strife. When internal trouble threatens, Robertson resorts to diplomacy.

Robertson has been uniformly successful in his fight for higher wages and better working conditions. Ground gained has never been surrendered. From that standpoint he is known among labor men as a "last stand fighter."

So in the negotiations with the railway presidents' committee, the railway labor executives' association proposed stabilization of employment for one year, the six-hour day and a billion dollar grade separation program.

Wage reductions which railway executives were hopeful would be voluntarily offered were not mentioned.

PARTY MUST PETITION FOR SEPARATE TICKET

Madison (AP)—To secure a separate ticket in the primary election, the proposed farmers' political party in Wisconsin must submit a petition signed by a number equal to six percent of the vote for presidential elector in 10 counties, F. M. Wylye, deputy attorney general ruled Wednesday.

A petition for election of state officers does not give the right for a separate ticket for election of congressional or legislative officers, Wylye said. Combined petitions, however, are permissible.

ENGLAND PLANS RIVAL TO "DO-X"

London—The English Air Ministry has completed plans for a trans-oceanic flying boat that will be the largest in the world.

This plane will carry 120 passengers as it is planned now, and 12 motors will move its 69 tons across the Atlantic to link the mother country with the Dominion.

The flying boat will have a range of 2500 miles and it is estimated its speed will reach 120 miles an hour. Sleeping accommodations will be supplied for about 60 of the passengers, it is said.

Pneumonia Death Rate Reduced In Wisconsin

Madison—When Wisconsin people are able to fight off the flu, the death rate from pneumonia declines.

In recent years the toll from pneumonia has been lower than cancer and heart disease, but when flu strikes the country it rises like a sky rocket. Outside of Wisconsin, pneumonia is one of the most frequent causes of death and yearly in the United States exacts toll of 100,000 lives.

The Educational Committee of the State Medical Society in a warning issued today declares that people should be especially careful when the weather changes from day to day. The report declares that with pneumonia there is a tendency toward complications, such as lung abscess, abscess of the pleura, damaged hearts and tuberculosis, chronic invalidism and indirect deaths, the evil record of which can not be recorded.

During the past ten years, pneumonia has been the cause of 23,893 deaths in Wisconsin as follows:

YEAR	DEATHS
1921	2,093
1922	2,463
1923	2,929
1924	2,511
1925	2,625
1926	2,681
1927	1,925
1928	2,571
1929	2,241
1930	2,152

"While the disease occurs everywhere in the United States, it is more frequent in the cities, probably as a result of overcrowding, bad ventilation and the more or less definitely established contagious character of predisposing colds," declares the Educational Society of the Wisconsin Medical Society in the warning issued today.

The term "pneumonia" is loosely used and includes several diseases differing in their cause and varying considerably in their seriousness.

The one constant feature of all is the congestion and solidification of a portion or portions of the lung tissue; the serious results depend on the amount of consolidation, the

REV. VAN ROOY IS HONORED IN CAPITAL

Receives Grand Cross of Catholic Students' Mission Crusade

The Grand Cross of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade was conferred upon the Rev. Daniel Van Rooy, O. P., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Rooy, 714 N. Fairst. at a rally of the mission crusade in Washington, D. C. last Sunday. The signal honor was conferred upon Father Van Rooy in recognition of the part he played in the mission crusade movement in the past few years. The document was signed by Monsignor Thill, the national secretary, and Archbishop M. Nicholas of Cincinnati.

Sunday Father Van Rooy will say mass and preach twice in New York, and on Christmas Eve he will conduct the midnight mass at St. Catherine church in Washington. During Christmas week he will say the daily mass.

At the Washington rally of the mission crusade he was on the reception and entertainment committee for the presider of the occasion, a Vincentian from China.

Father Van Rooy, a graduate of Appleton high school, was a protege of the late Msgr. Walter J. Fitzmaurice. He studied with him before entering St. Francis seminary, from where he joined the Dominican order. He was ordained last summer in Washington by the Archbishop Curley of Baltimore, and said his first solemn mass at St. Therese church in "secular" Washington. He is now doing post graduate work in Washington D. C.

SOME MORE STATISTICS

We are indebted to Assemblyman Malchow for digging up a series of figures telling something of the career of industry in Wisconsin during recent years. These figures—even bearing constantly in mind the slippery danger of unexplained statistics—serve a proper purpose.

In 1928, an excellent year, Wisconsin industry averaged a little less than 9½ per cent profit on the amount of money actually invested in it. That looks like a pretty good thing. The casual or the careless observer, taking the figures of one year or sometimes even a few years together, jumps to the conclusion that someone is being robbed on account of the great profits made. Yet it is a truism in business that any concern that cannot occasionally make 20 or even 25 per cent profits will never have enough to average over the lean years into which it must expect to run.

For 1930 Mr. Malchow's figures show that industry in Wisconsin earned but a bit over one-half of 1 per cent and thus was as flat as near-beer.

These figures begin to tell the story of the hazards of those who embark on industrial ventures, the terrible losses, the complete bankruptcies sometimes resulting.

But the real tragedy is not to be found in those slowly weathering the gale, and still alive with hope, but in the 533 manufacturing plants in Wisconsin that pulled their shades, closed their doors and gave up the ghost.

They represented 92 millions in money but little of which perhaps will ever be recovered.

The principal lesson to be learned from the figures collected by Mr. Malchow is that no business, any more than a man's life, can be fairly judged by one or a few years, but in order to get a correct perspective of it, of its dangers and losses as well as its happy days with profits, it must be judged by at least a generation.

ALIENS AND STATE LAWS

Michigan has discovered that there is a limit to its control and regulation of aliens within its borders.

During the final hours of its last session the Michigan legislature passed a remarkable law aimed primarily at uncovering the aliens unlawfully within the state.

The Michigan-Canadian border, especially in the highly populated Detroit river district, offers facile opportunities for the smuggling of humans as well as other familiar contraband, which have resulted in an illegal influx of aliens of serious import.

Besides requiring the registration of all aliens, the law provides that any person who, because of defective records or other reason, could not prove a legal entry into the country, should be expelled from the state; that those who remained must carry a state passport with photograph and personal data subject to official inspection at any time; that no foreign-born person without such passport could have work and that employers giving them work would be liable to prosecution.

The federal court of the Michigan district has just held that this law is an encroachment upon federal authority; that only the national government has the right to exert such regulations over the unnaturalized. While the alien, as such, is amenable to many state laws, he is in a sense, a special ward of the United States and cannot be made the subject of discriminatory or special state legislation which enlarges upon or changes the scope and intent of the national immigration laws or the requirements for the admission of aliens to citizenship.

The law involves many interesting constitutional questions, and its public discussion may serve a useful purpose in adding emphasis to Labor Secretary Doak's recent recommendations for more stringent regulation of aliens and more clearly defined requirements for citizenship.

TILSON'S PROPOSAL

The handwriting on the wall, at one time shaded and indistinct, is daily assuming more clear and definite characters.

Prohibition must go.

Congressman Tilson, Republican floor leader, with a steady dry record, is the latest leader of national renown to recognize the imperative necessity of washing out the stains of prohibition. His suggestion shows careful thought in the purpose of correcting the evils under which we live but to prevent the return of evils from which we fled.

He proposes an amendment to the prohibition provision in the constitution which will leave it intact in respect to all states that want it that way, but providing also that when any state shall itself have passed laws for the regulation of the liquor traffic the federal prohibition laws in the case of that state shall become automatically revoked, provided only the state mentioned shall never permit the return of the saloon.

Mr. Tilson's plan is practical too in providing that congress shall retain its full power of taxing all beverages that may become thus legalized.

Mr. Tilson's proposal signifies, we believe, a prevailing strong trend of opinion among many who supported the dry measure until the impossibility of its enforcement became manifest, and his statement of the results which may be obtained under his proposal sounds like the calm reasoning we should expect from national legislative halls. Said he:

"The adoption of the proposed amendment would remove from Washington, where it does not belong, the question of dealing with the age-old problem and bring it back to the states, where under our dual system of government it properly belongs. It will help to save that boon of liberty known as local government now being destroyed by federal encroachment, and it will help restore faith in the soundness and permanence of our federal system."

THE CHICAGO CRIME COM-MISSION

As the end of an eventful year approaches, the Chicago Crime Commission may well stand on its record of having performed a useful service to its community.

Chicago's widely publicized reputation as a dangerous locality for both residents and transients and as a place where gunmen and gangsters were the official city greeters, has gradually been dispelled during the past few months, until even Ex-King Alfonso is reported to have lost interest in his namesake.

In great measure the Chicago Crime Commission is responsible for this state of affairs. No other city has a crime commission of its scope and efficiency.

While its most spectacular act was the listing of twenty-eight notorious figures as "public enemies", resulting in the disappearance of most of them from their accustomed haunts, other accomplishments stand to its credit.

The commission was responsible for the survey of the city police department and the organization of a Citizens' Police Committee which led to the drastic reorganization of that department.

It sponsored the Bail Bond Law which corrected many of the evils of the former bail bond system and obtained an amendment to the Concealed Weapons Act, as well as an increase in the number of judges in the Criminal Court from seven to fifteen for a period of three years.

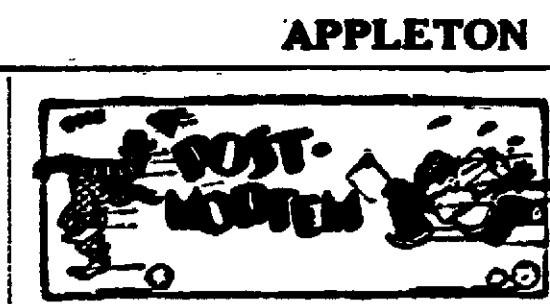

The results of the commission's efforts have attracted country-wide attention and offer demonstrable proof that a civic conscience, sufficiently aroused and confined to the care of responsible go-getting citizens, can meet the challenge of racketeers and gangsters with their political henchmen and kick them to a frazzle.

Opinions Of Others

THE BERLIN POLICE FORCE

The Berlin police force now has on its rolls about 150 men who speak English fluently, and over 400 men who speak French. All of the first group and about half of the second are stationed at the railroad depots, air-terminals, museums, postoffices, state and municipal buildings, and other places of foreign sight-seeing or business concourse. The officers who can speak English are distinguished with a broad red ribbon on their left coat-sleeve, while those who speak French are similarly marked with a band of gold and white.

It has been found that a knowledge of these two languages, in addition to their native German, is sufficient for dealing intelligently with practically all the tourists to Berlin.—Cologne Gazette (Germany).

THE SHELTERED PLACE

Beside my window pane I stayed
And from my comfortable seat
I watched the wet and cold parade
Of people driving down the street.
Braving the north wind unafraid,
Undaunted by the stinging sleet.

Safe sheltered from the driving storm
I thought it good to be secure,
To sit with body snug and warm
Where fire and food and peace were sure.
With not one need I must perform
And nothing that I must endure.

But as I watched them come and go:
Beneath the burdens they must bear,
In spite of wind and sleet and snow
And driven by the lash of care,
It seemed to me I longed to know
Once more the thrill of battle there.

I wished again at doubtful pace
To be obliged to trudge the street.
To feel the cold wind on my face
And know the sting of rain and sleet.
For after all a sheltered place
Knows neither victory nor defeat.

TUBERCULOSIS IN SCHOOL CHILDREN

In the course of six years Massachusetts health authorities have tested 140,000 school children in 253 cities and towns for tuberculosis, by means of the skin test (Pirquet). More than one-fourth of all these children reacted; that is, they have what is now known as the childhood type of tuberculosis, or lymph nodes behind the lungs or even in the lung fields, but it is latent or inactive and in most instances remains so. For instance among all these thousands of children who reacted to the Pirquet skin test only one out of every thousand in grade school was found to have active tuberculosis of the lungs and six out of every thousand in high school.

"Go right ahead," said Scouty. "And I will be right at your side. I'm good at turning cartwheels. We'll both do it at once." Then Clowny called for thumping from the dog that played the little drum. Said he, "That ought to help you who're putting on your pants."

Then off they started, side by side. "That's great," one of the big dogs cried. "Go all around the tent path and 'twill look just like a race."

"That's what it will be," Scouty said, as he kept turning on end. "We'll shortly find out who will finish this stunt in first place."

If the X-ray film shows such signs the child should be given a very careful physical examination and if the examination reveals any signs or symptoms of disease, then the child should be kept under medical observation till the diagnosis is cleared up.

It is fallacy to think that a child developing active tuberculosis is likely to be underweight or what doctors call poorly nourished. Only a few underweight children have tuberculosis; as a rule the child with tuberculosis is not noticeably underweight.

A sign of semi-shoudering infection, though not necessarily tuberculosis, is probably enlargement of lymph nodes in the neck, in the glands, and just inside the elbow, or perhaps in the axills.

This plan of tuberculin-testing all the children in school is a good one, for it enables us to pick out the children who are more likely to have active tuberculosis as he or she is almost certain to succumb to such superversion, where a child without infection, or child tuberculosis, probably could withstand such exposure.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
The Size Is A Fizzle

I am starting a course of cigaret baths for reduction. I have been told Turkish baths are more efficacious, but can one stand two Turkish baths a week? (Miss A. L. M.)

Answer—You'll have more success if you take just one or two English baths a week and control your intake of nutriment and take six intakes of oxygen on the beef every afternoon. You can't reduce flesh by bathing. Any temporary loss of weight from a sweat bath is due to the weight of water lost in sweat. This is soon made up by the ingestion of water, as beverage or in food. Send your name and address on a stamped envelope, mention your age, height and weight and ask for reduction advice. I promise no advice unless I believe the correspondent should reduce.

GREAT-AUNT WILL SELL ROYAL JEWELS SO GIRL MAY WED

Proceeds Will Provide Dower
for Exiled Spanish Princess

BY ADELAIDE KEEF
Paris—(AP)—Behind the gray walls of a Paris convent-pension the Infanta Eulalia, daughter of one of the queens of Spain, is preparing to sell the jewels given her on her own wedding day to provide a dower for the love-match of an exiled Spanish princess.

Diamond, emeralds and pearls which once gleamed from the throats and hair of two Spanish queens are to be taken from dust-covered iron-bound strong boxes and sold to facilitate the marriage of the Infanta's grandson, Prince Alvaro d'Orleans and her great-niece, Princess Beatrice, eldest daughter of Alfonso, former King of Spain.

"It is a 'love match,'" she says. "These children love each other dearly. They were engaged, though not officially, before the fall of the Spanish monarchy. Now they are rechristened because there is no money for their marriage."

The king says there is no money for a marriage and a 'dot' now, and that they must wait until affairs are more settled." The little princess has sobbed on my shoulder.

"My grandson writes me frantic letters from Zurich where he is in school. They both beg 'Help us out. Grandmamma. Nobody else will! And so it's up to me. I haven't anything left but my jewels, but I'm giving those."

The jewels which she is preparing to sell, once the envy of the court ladies of Madrid, are said to be among the most beautiful in the world.

There are the emeralds, a large tiara and necklace, given to the Infanta Eulalia by her mother, Queen Isabella II, on the day of her marriage to the Duke de Galliera, grandson of King Louis Philippe of France.

There is a pearl tiara, regal as a crown, and a minor strand pearl and diamond necklace which King Alfonso XII, brother of the Infanta Eulalia, gave to his beautiful young bride, Maria Mercedes, on her wedding day. When she died six months later the king presented them to his sister.

"They're all I have left to give," said Infanta Eulalia. "And I hope they bring happiness to the children. I'm going to divide the results of their sale between the Princess Beatrice and her sister, Marie Christina, who is engaged to my second grandson, Prince Alfonso d'Orleans."

Prince Alvaro, tall, dark-haired, dark-eyed, is working "day and night," his grandmother says, on his course in mechanical engineering at the University of Zurich in Switzerland. Two more years of work are necessary before he will be ready to earn his living as a mechanical engineer.

His fiancee and cousin, Princess Beatrice, remains at Fontainebleau in the little French hotel where the exiled royal family has maintained headquarters since the establishment of the Spanish republic.

Harmony In Color Schemes For Yule Gift Wrappings

The well dressed Christmas gift this year will have as great a versatility as the presents themselves according to the various counters piled sky high with printed papers, tags, stickers and ribbons.

The traditional berry red tied with a sprig of holly will still be in the lead for the parcels but new Christmas papers are tending to diverge from the white or red tissue packages to unusual designs as individual as Christmas cards.

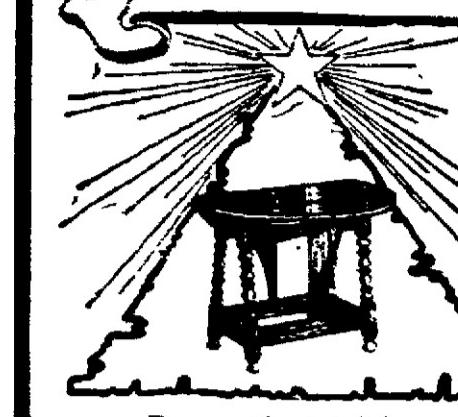

This is the year one may use his ingenuity in wrapping gifts because there are hosts of unusual wrappings and little gadgets to make packages take on an air of individuality. New Christmas papers are sky blues, bright shiny green, and the transparent holly reds and Fir tree greens. These combine with a gold or silver tissue ribbon with a huge bow to set it off. In one corner little gold or silver well-wishers are pasted to give an artistic effect, or black silhouettes make a Christmas picture.

For those who still prefer white or red tissue wrappings, the loveliest way to tie these parcels this year is to use the soft tissue paper ribbon words printed in gold and silver bars with Christmas hymn music and bars along its length.

Give Child Enough Time For Playing

BY ANGELO PATRI

It often happens that little children have too long a school day. Of course it is not the length of the school day that matters. It is what happens in the length of the day. We take an active quick moving child to whom action is the breath of life and force him to sit still and keep still for five or more hours a day. That is not only against the growth of the child, it is cruelty to his sensitive nature. All he gets out of his school attendance is a nervous ailment.

If your five or six year old child is attending school and shows irritability, or distress, or fear, look into his school day. Find out exactly how long he has to sit still at a time. Know what lessons he has during the day and how long each of them requires his concentrated attention. Note how long he has to listen carefully. Pay close heed to the demands made upon his vision. You will find some astonishing things.

Many little children have to sit still for more than half an hour at a time. That might not be so bad if that was the only half hour in the day that he is held in stillness. He is likely to have to sit for half hours at a time all day long with a few minutes break between if he is lucky. I have found children who worked in the classroom this way from nine to twelve with five minute recess. They changed from reading to numbers and from numbers to word study and from word study to penmanship and so on with the five minutes for rest. Some of them can stand it. Some fall by the wayside. All of them would be better for a shorter day and plenty of free play scattered along the way.

Sitting in a bench is not in itself educational. Some people behave as though they thought it were. Unless the child in the bench is actively interested and actively busy he is not being educated. He is being stunted. The teacher is at fault. She follows the orders given her by the authorities and they take their cue from the parents who are tax payers.

If the tax payers provide a school that has enough classrooms, if they are willing to provide rooms and equipment for active work, willing to pay for extra teachers to do the work, the children can be kept busy and happy and healthy on a long school day. If all that is provided in one room and one teacher for fifty or more little children, the day must be cut short, the shorter the better.

If your little beginner is not happy in school, if he is not making the progress he should, try shortening his school day. Go over his program with the teacher and the family physician and decide what ought to be done.

One thing is certain. A child who is plainly fatigued by his school day is not going to prosper in it. There must be an adjustment. The best way is to cut down the sitting still and listening time and lengthen the active, hard playing time. Get the book lesson time a half and let him use the rest of the time in applied hand work. Or let his play in the open air with his ball or his skates or his scooter.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing envelope for reply.

MORATORIUM IS SENT TO HOUSE BY COMMITTEE

21 of 25 Members Give Full Approval to President's Action

Washington—(CP)—The moratorium came to the floor of the house today buttermilk by emphatic support of a committee majority, destined for ratification in short order.

Chairman Collier, the Mississippian who pushed the international debt holiday plan through the ways and means committee, brought in a report lining up 21 of the 25 members in unequivocal approval of President Hoover's action. The small minority in a separate paper contradicted flatly the findings of their colleagues.

The house had today and three more legislative days before the Christmas holidays, in which to approve and send the measure to the senate. There its ratification will take place soon after the Christmas holidays. This means sometime in January — talk of shortening the vacation is just talk, for there is no chance of getting the members reassembled until after the New Year.

Even before the house could meet to take up the ratification plan Senate machinery was on the job through the finance committee investigation of foreign securities floated in the United States. This group called before it Thomas W. Lamont, partner in J. P. Morgan and Company and Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City bank of New York, to tell what their business has to do with placing the billions of German and other bonds which have been held responsible by administration critics for ruining many small banks throughout the country.

The investigation was fathered by Senator Hiram Johnson of California, foe of President Hoover, denouncer of the moratorium, as one angle of his campaign to defeat ratification. It may delay, but it is given no chance to succeed.

Oppose Revision

On only one point were all members of the house agreed. All favored amendment of the ratification resolution by adding an expression of unalterable opposition on the part of congress to further revision or cancellation of the war debts. Whether the amendment stays attached or not, events have shown it expresses the sentiment of virtually all leaders in both house and senate, even some regular supporters of the president.

Briefly, the majority report found the moratorium was necessary to support tottering world economies; that its ratification did not link war debts and reparations; that it does not commit the United States to revision or cancellation, but that the safeguarding amendment was attached to block critical attacks; that the reports of withheld information, or of readiness of foreign powers to make their payments were not borne out and that they were extraneous matters anyway.

The minority report, signed by three of the four dissenting Democrats, asserted the president had no constitutional right to declare the moratorium in effect; that the nations benefited spent enormous sums on armaments, and that no evidence showed them unable to pay; that France obtained too much advantage from the agreement; that the committee should have studied the matter long; and "this is a fore-runner and curtain raiser to debt cancellation or another moratorium. Be not deceived. Read the president's message."

HEAVY MARGIN IS RECORDED BY CULBERTSON

He and Lightner Now Hold Edge of 4,965 Points Over Lenz, Jacoby

BY TOM O'NEIL

New York (AP) — The greatest swing of any session of the contract bridge world series left Ely Culbertson and his new partner—Theodore A. Lightner, a scintillating star of his system—4,965 points ahead of Sidney Lenz and Oswald Jacoby to date.

In the eighth session the Culbertson side won five of six rubbers and gained 4,555 for its greater lead for the first time, having taken 28 compared with 26 for the representatives of the "official" system.

Lightner is substituting for Mrs. Culbertson so that she can prepare for Christmas. He will be Culbertson's partner again tonight and at the sessions next week—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights and Saturday afternoon.

He had a good run of cards and usually made the most of them. His technique, especially in play, aroused the open admiration of his opponents. Lenz and Jacoby suffered damaging sets. They went down 13 times, once on a grand slam effort doubled and once on a bid of one doubled on which they lost 1,000 points alone. The 1,000 point loss was due to a strategic pass by Culbertson after Lightner had doubled in order for Culbertson to offer his best suit. Culbertson's strength was mainly in suit bid by Jacoby.

Lightner's strategy was wrong once. He doubled a three no trump offering of Jacoby's and Jacoby jumped to four clubs, being set one undoubled. Izzi Lightner passed the no trump bid he and Culbertson could have taken the first ten tricks with the enemy vulnerable. Jacoby would have cost his side 1,100 points. As it was he lost only 100.

Lenz and Jacoby disagreed openly with each other. They went into a private conference once because of Oxie's sets.

Bickering between opposing sides was negligible during play but before the session there was heavy cannonading.

It started with an interview given by F. D. Courtenay, president of Bridge Headquarters, Inc., sponsor of the "official" system, who insisted that the match was not a test of the Culbertson and "official" systems. At first he was understood to say Lenz was not playing the "official." He withdrew that statement.

Culbertson jumped at the opportunity to say that an alibi for coming defeat was being prepared by his opponents and that Courtenay was trying to destroy the idol of the "official" system.

No little slams were made during the session. Each side tried one. Lenz went down three, Lightner down one. Lightner took six tricks over book three times on bids of game or better, but regarded the slams as unprofitable in those cases.

Lenz's slam effort was regarded by Culbertson as due primarily to the opening intermediary two bid of the official system. Here is hand No. 30:

LEGION AUXILIARY AT MARION HOLDS PARTY

Special to Post-Crescent

Marion — The American Legion held its annual popcorn and cracker-jack party at the village hall Wednesday evening. About eleven pounds of corn was popped and prepared then packed up and will be sent to the hospital for sick and crippled soldiers.

The board of education held its regular meeting at the schoolhouse Wednesday evening. Applications for the commercial position which will be vacant after Christmas were considered.

A program given by the combined grades will be held in the school Thursday evening.

Mrs. Ella Strotzka is at the Marion hospital recovering from an appendicitis operation submitted to last Saturday. She is doing nicely and will return to the home of her mother, Mrs. Anna Spiegel.

Miss Evelyn Block, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Block of Huntingdon, was operated at the Marion hospital Tuesday for the removal of the appendix.

Wellesley Girl Isn't At All Impressed By Experts

BY MORRIS WATSON

New York (AP) — "We," said Lucy Sinclair, "make bigger bids at Wellesley, and we don't lose."

Miss Sinclair, Wellesley sophomore, had no idea that she was summing up the opinion of a number of experts as she waited, all dressed up, for Oxie Jacoby to take her to a night club at the conclusion of the Ely Culbertson-Sidney Lenz bridge match eighth session.

She had gazed through the peeking screen and experts or no, she had pretty things to say about each other after it was over.

Mr. Oxie, partner to Lenz and respondent in full dress, was a disappointment to her, especially when he bid grand slams and went down doubled.

The veteran Lenz had a similar thought. He called his partner a "big stiff" and took him out of the room for a talking to.

Culbertson and Theodore Lightner, his new partner, didn't have anything to argue about. They were winning.

Heywood Broun, New York columnist, walked in to take a peek through the screen and the players made him a reference.

He protested he didn't know much about "this contract business" and declared he'd just as soon continue peaking with the rest of the press contingent.

With the last rubber over the columnist averred as how bridge might be over-emphasized, but "so is football, so is baseball, so is congress, so is everything else" and so was Mr. Broun classified as a guy who could sit through five rubbers of bridge without wiggling his ears.

"You can quote me," he said, "as saying there were too many passes — and I had a hankering to get up and pace the floor."

But no good bridge referee paces the floor when bridge players are thinking up bids—and Mr. Broun just sat.

The game was remarkably peaceful considering that the chief peace maker, Mrs. Culbertson, was absent.

CONGRESS MAY CUT CHRISTMAS RECESS PERIOD

Several Senators Say Economic Conditions Should Not Be Left to Drift

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Should congress recess over the holidays or take a brief respite from Wednesday of next week and come back on Dec. 28?

This question is being raised in the halls of congress notwithstanding the fact that the leaders of both parties have virtually agreed on a vacation for the senate and house from next Tuesday until Monday, Jan. 4.

The urge behind a brief intermission is the claim of several senators particularly that the economic situation today is too critical to be allowed to drift and that there is pending legislation of vast importance to the country which ought to be acted upon one way or the other before the new year begins.

For the last 48 hours the tales of gloom have been pouring in on Washington from the large cities where the morale of business appears to be rather low and spirits are dragging. Just what was contributed to the latest phase of melancholy is difficult to determine but there seems no doubt that much of it is due to the realization that congress has thus far shown little disposition to regard the plight of business as something warranting emergency treatment.

The crux of the administration's program just now is the reconstruction finance corporation, which with a proposed capital structure of $300,000,000 and debentures aggregating $1,500,000,000 more is looked upon as the credit machinery necessary to rescue the railroads from several threatened receiverships and as the biggest stabilizing influence that can be exercised at the moment to revive the long-term money bank of America, namely the bond market.

On Capitol Hill, the Democrats have said very little about the reconstruction finance corporation but it is known that the pending bill will be materially changed and one of the suggestions which emanates from Democratic sources is that the debentures of the corporation shall not be made eligible for collateral in borrowings from the federal reserve banks by member banks. Another hurdle that has to be overcome has to do with the personnel. The bills introduced in the senate and house provide for a membership of five composed of three statutory members, namely, the secretary of the treasury, the governor of the federal reserve board and a member of the federal farm loan board, and two other persons.

Will these "two other persons" be Democrats? Also, who is going to direct the activities of the new corporation and be its responsible head? The Democratic leaders in congress want to know all this before they go ahead. Such an emergency finance corporation as is proposed would have immense power and influence and could if it were politically minded strengthen the relationships of a political party with the chieftains of business and finance in America.

Under the circumstances the demand for a bi-partisan management is likely to grow. It has been intimated that the president has intended right along to appoint some prominent Democrats business men to the proposed corporation's management but the Democrats on Capitol Hill declare nobody has been approached on the subject and that one of the deciding factors in winning the approval of the leaders in both houses will be just how the personnel is to be chosen.

MILWAUKEE TO HAVE 4 MILLION CASH BALANCE

Milwaukee (AP)—The city of Milwaukee paid its bill, expended hundreds of thousands of dollars in unemployment relief, and at the end of the year will have about $4,000,000 in the bank. Cold cash can be applied to costs of municipal services next year.

Mr. Kotek assigns four reasons for the city's happy financial condiways set to pounce fiercely on any sin. He has been mayor since 1916.

In the north end of the city hall is the office of Mr. Kotek, non-partisan, short ruddy man of Polish extraction, who believes that citizens and cities should pay their bills. He has been in office since 1912.

Comptroller and mayor, more than any other individuals, control the city check book. They are personal friends, but their political differences are deep-seated and bitter. They are two watch dogs with diverse interests. In Milwaukee it is possible to create a municipal scandal, accompanied by much publicity, by misappropriation of $75. In fact, a minor official lost his job recently because in the dead of night someone hauled off a truck load of rust pipe when an old sewer was being replaced. Milwaukee had figured on selling that old pipe had anticipated the proceeds as so much velvet in next year's income.

Reasons for Status

Mr. Kotek assigns four reasons for the city's happy financial condition. He lists them as (1) a sane, industrious citizenry, profitably employed in diversified industries, accustomed to and demanding a good government, (2) a budget system adhered to down to the last nickel, (3) a "taxation readjustment plan" by which all departments of government are being placed on a cash basis, and (4) the debt amortization fund, growing year by year, which at some time not far distant will wipe out every cent of city indebtedness.

Before 1913 Milwaukee sold tax anticipation warrants and borrowed money until tax collections rolled in. Then the tax readjustment law became effective. Under its provisions an additional tax of a quarter of a mill is raised each year. With this added revenue one after another of the city departments were placed on a cash basis. The process is almost completed. In three years every department will be spending only the money already collected for its specific needs. Whereupon the quarter mill tax will be discontinued, and the city government will be borrowing nothing for current needs.

The debt amortization plan is even a grander scheme. Since 1923 about $3,600,000 has accrued to this fund. For if there is no specific assessment, it gets a portion of the interest of various city bank accounts, it gets the interest contributed by citizens who pay for improvements on the installment plan, and on several occasions the city has contributed surpluses. The fund is invested in city bonds, and at present owns 80 per cent of all bonds outstanding. Slow to start, officials say it is

Manawa Boy Dies From Gun Wound

Ervin Glocke, 18, son of Mrs. Emma Glocke, town of Union, Waupaca died at the Iola hospital about 4 o'clock this morning as the result of a gunshot wound accidentally inflicted on himself while he was hunting rabbits last Wednesday afternoon.

Glocke was employed by Walter Schmoll. The two men were hunting in what is known as Nollenberg's woods in the town of Helvetia. Schmoll was several rods away from his companion when he heard a shot, looked around, and saw Glocke crumple in a pile of brush. The gun had accidentally discharged and the full load entered the youth's abdomen.

He was carried to the road some distance away by Schmoll, and a car driven by Reinhardt Gehre stopped to pick up the injured man and take him to Iola. He was conscious all the time. He could not tell exactly how the accident occurred, but thought that the trigger of the gun must have caught in the brush.

Glocke is a brother of Henry Glocke, found murdered on County Trunk C in the town of Lebanon on the afternoon of July 31, 1930. The resultant investigation aroused much interest throughout the state, and authorities are still seeking Charles Barkholz, who is wanted for questioning and who disappeared immediately after the murder.

Survivors include the mother, three sisters, Leona, Viola and Mrs.

Irvin Patri. Funeral services will be held Sunday at Symco, with interment at Manawa.

LEGION POST FILES CORPORATION PAPERS

STOCK MARKET CHEERFUL AS PRICES RISE

Reports of Bankers' Pool
Impetus to Upward
Movement

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER

Associated Press Financial Editor

New York—(P)—A sudden reversal in the securities markets gave Wall Street a foretaste of holiday cheer today.

A report that important banking interests had placed bids in the bond market to prevent further wide breaks in issues which they have sponsored, and that formation of a pool had been considered, generated a brisk recovery in the investment market, which quickly spread to stocks.

Railroad securities were prominent in the upturn. In stocks, Delaware and Hudson shot up more than 10 points. Auburn gained about as much. Miscellaneous issues up 2 to 5 included U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, Woolworth, National Biscuit, Corn Products, Allied Chemical, New York Central, Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line, American Tobacco B, Union Pacific, and many others. Bank stocks and other issues traded over the counter also turned upward.

Wall Street was watching intently the meeting of railroad executives at the Baltimore hotel to discuss the appointment of a committee empowered "to negotiate to a conclusion" the wage controversy. Railroad quarters have been increasingly hopeful of late that a 10 per cent wage reduction might be agreed upon.

Some important banking interests understood to be considering taking a stand in the bond market were said to be withholding a definite decision pending the outcome of the railway negotiations.

The recent action of the bond market had been particularly unsettling to Wall Street. Bankers pointed out that the mechanics of the market had failed to function normally, in view of the large volume of liquidation reflecting tax selling, selling out of loan collateral, and year-end reduction of investment accounts, at a time when the investing public was definitely on the sidelines. As a result, offerings found virtually no bids under the market in many issues, and resulted in extraordinary price declines.

Of particular interest in the day's news was the testimony of Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan and Co., before the senate finance committee, in which he scotched exaggerated reports concerning the German credits extended by large banks. He pointed to the wide distribution of these credits, and the fact that they constitute but a small fraction of the business of the participating institutions.

SHARE PRICES RISE ON N. Y. CURB MART

Long Awaited Rally Appears —Early Trade Indicates
Reduced Selling

New York—(P)—The curb market got its long delayed rally today. Early dealings indicated that the steady stream of selling had at least temporarily abated and a slowly firming tone during the morning finally developed into a general rise.

Advances in many instances were moderate, but a number of the utilities, including Electric Bond and Share and United Light & Power at least a point in response to a fair volume of buying orders.

Oils firmed, influenced in part by reports of prospective curtailment by major producers in Texas. Advices received here said several companies were planning to stop both output and refining at least one day a week. Standard of Indiana turned over rather briskly, getting above 15 on the move. Gulf also strengthened.

Sharpest gains, as usual, developed in the erratic specialties. Aluminum of America, Singer and Great Atlantic and Pacific were prominent. Ford of Canada "A" in the lower priced group, sagged at the opening but quickly recovered. Pennroad steadied in sympathy with the rise in rails on the big board. Metal issues were firm.

SHARE PRICES SLUMP ON CHICAGO MARKET

Chicago—(P)—Unsettlement in Chicago stock exchange trading pushed most issues into new low ground today. Edison was conspicuous, falling 15 to 110. Inland was off 15 at 42, and Midland United down at 51.

Certain sections of the list, however, displayed climbing tendencies. Automotive shares in particular scored gains, especially Bencis and

NOTE REVERSAL IN HOG PRICE TREND

Sellers Cheer as Quotations
Mount to Higher Levels in Chicago

Chicago—(P)—A reversal in the price trend of hogs for the first time this week, cheered sellers. In the face of continued liberal loadings and a more or less panicky condition among producers, early trading made good headway at 10c higher prices and the average of the previous day. Butchers and lights of substantial weights brought more freely to shippers and small operators today, with wheat rising briskly more than 2 cents. It was estimated that upward of 1,500,000 bushels of wheat had been taken for shipment overseas.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN

Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago—(P)—Enlarged export demand for wheat from North America had a stimulating effect on grain values today, with wheat rising briskly more than 2 cents. It was estimated that upward of 1,500,000 bushels of wheat had been taken for shipment overseas.

Packers received 15,000 hogs on direct consignment and did not support the opening market. They were in a position to take on more hogs and waited for the initial spurt of buying to run its course before attempting to take on their regular requirements. Average cost of drives rose well above the $4.00 figure.

Dwindling cattle receipts this week did not prevent prices from sagging to sharply lower levels.

Practically all classes of killing cattle suffered severe discounts, carrying prices to the low point of the season. Twelve markets received 160,000 cattle during the week to date, against 154,000 last week, local receipts falling off 6,000 during the five days.

Less than 1,000 lambs out of the fresh run of 10,000 went straight to packing plants. Buyers turned away from lambs when holders asked prices that did not take into consideration Thursday's weak close.

Reports that banking interests were contemplating formation of a large pool which would take advantage of low prices and also that important buying had been going on in many second grade rails presumably facilitated the improvement. Advances were moderate and some issues were still under pressure of liquidation, but the mere presence of an assortment of net advances was encouraging.

The railraod meeting attracted attention to the carrier group which showed quiet strength in the earlier dealings. Some of the sharply depressed bonds of this description moved to point or so higher and trading in them was fairly active. Penn sylvania General 4½, Missouri Pacific, Erie 3½, Chesapeake and Ohio 4½ and Frisco 4½ were leaders.

Diversity of movement ruled among the utilities. American Telephone listings were steady, while International Telephone was rallied. Fluctuations generally narrowed in the highest grade bonds of power and light companies. Industrials were quiet and rather inactive.

Recovery of German governments was a feature of the foreign. Both the U.S. and the U.K. improved in the neighborhood of a couple of points.

United States liberty and treasury issues turned over briskly, but without much change in price.

Plenty Of Gavels Presented To Speaker Garner Of House

WISCONSIN — A gavel for every legislative mood, a gavel for every working day in two weeks—a dozen doughty rap-em-down gavels are among the early garnitures of Speaker John N. Garner.

On a bookcase top of his inner office they are ranged handily for the early morning choice of "dinner woods." Mostly they bear the Texas brand, but one came from Florida, and one from far-off Palestine. His choice today was the "Billy Bryan" gavel—the walnut one that opened the Democratic national convention at which William Jennings Bryan was nominated for president.

The envious fact in connection with the market value of bonds and stocks is that nothing is nothing. In the market, value of bonds and stocks is that nothing is nothing. And there's the one—that grew—that way, a mosquito wood monstrosity, that could only be called a "jester's gavel." It has a crooked handle and a caricature of a head. Garner says maybe he'll use it on that last, care-free and sometimes clownish day of adjournment."

BUILDING ACTIVITY DROPS TO $53,000

Total Volume Last Month Lower Than for Corresponding Month in 1932

Appleton building dropped to the low level of $53,500 during November, a moderate drop from the monthly building survey by Mrs. S. Strains and company. In October, 1930, building permits aggregated $65,900.

Green Bay's building operations were even more restricted, permits totaling only $26,125, compared to $106,450 in November, 1930, and $42,550 in November last year. Oshkosh, on the other hand, spent $191,125 on building operations in November, a huge increase over the $14,515 of October and the $31,905 of November, 1930.

Other point totals for the month were: Beloit, $8,750; Eau Claire, $23,400; Madison, $39,693; Milwaukee, $14,813; Fond du Lac, $23,400; Kenosha, $12,900; Superior, $7,900; Winona, $6,500; Superior, $7,900; Winona, $6,500; Winona, $10,800; West Allis, $11,551; and Winona, Bay, $17,450.

Wisconsin's total was $222,083, which placed her eighth in the list of leading states. The aggregate of 57 cities in the country was $76,094,329, a 15.6 per cent decline from October, and 42.2 per cent below November, 1930.

HOUSE LEADERS AT HOOVER BREAKFAST

Washington — (P)—A breakfast conference held at the White House on Nov. 29, between the leaders of both houses of Congress in an effort to facilitate the passage of important legislation.

The bill, not more than two hours debate on any measure, was $1,227,025; Racine, $13,115; Sheboygan, $5,910; South Milwaukee, $5,910; Superior, $7,900; Winona, $6,500; Winona, $10,800; West Allis, $11,551; and Winona, Bay, $17,450.

Speaker Garner said, "We had a nice breakfast, I enjoyed it." He would say nothing more.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD WALKS 45 MILES

With his clothes torn to ribbons, Leader Shell of the house were among the dozen members of the house who participated. Representative Strode, a Kansas Republican, was another guest.

They declined to discuss details of the conference upon emerging from the White House but said the one-year moratorium proposal was among the legislation brought up.

An embargo could be placed against the receipts of securities from foreign holders. It might not be traditionally correct or even dignified for the six to 10 banks and investment firms that issued the great bulk of the securities between 1925 and 1929 to state publicly that they still had some faith in them. But dignity and tradition do not have any place in a condition such as now faces the country. The future success of the investing public for the operators and distributors of securities rests on the degree to which they show some faith in them from now on.

Another method of helping the investor could readily be employed to

AIR EXPRESS RATES UNDERGO RADICAL CUTS

Five Transport Companies
Agree to Change,
Chamber Learns

Radical reductions in air express rates have been announced by the Railway Express agency, and the five air lines through which its airplane service is operated, according to word received here by Kenneth H. Corbett, chamber of commerce secretary from the division traffic agency of the Northwest Airways Inc., Chicago, Ill.

The five air transport companies involved serve directly 117 cities on 19,000 miles of air routes and through rail express connections the reduction are extended to every city in the United States at which an office of the Railway Express agency is maintained, it was stated.

The reduction, in most cases exceeding 50 per cent, and in many instances 75 per cent of the former charges, bring about a sharp increase in the number of commodities which can be profitably transported by airplane, making it possible to carry smaller stocks on many staple products through quick shipment by air transport, it was pointed out. The rates become effective Dec. 13 in time for the holiday traffic, and include both pick up and delivery services.

While no uniform percentage of reduction is indicated, savings in transportation costs under the new tariff are marked. A 10-pound package moving by air between Appleton and Cleveland, Ohio, which formerly cost $20 can now be shipped for $5; between Appleton and Dallas, Texas, for $6.40 instead of the former cost of $26.

New Prices

The same weight package flown between Appleton and San Francisco, Calif., costs $11 instead of $34, and between Appleton and Toledo, Ohio, $2.40 instead of $20. Proportional reductions were announced between all other cities on the five air lines.

The air traffic of the Express company is handled on all planes of the following lines:

Northwest Airways—between Appleton and Chicago; Chicago and the Twin Cities and other Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota points.

United Air Lines—between New York and Chicago; Chicago and San Francisco; Chicago and Dallas; Salt Lake City and Seattle; Seattle and San Francisco; Los Angeles and San Diego.

Western Air Express—between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Denver, Colo.; Albuquerque, N.M.; and El Paso, and between Pueblo and Amarillo, Texas.

American Airways—between Chicago and Cincinnati and between Cincinnati, Cleveland, Ohio and Louisville, Ky.

National Parks Airways—between Salt Lake City and Great Falls, Mont.

The minimum rates have also been changed for air express, the minimum now being $1 on shipments moving up to 300 miles; $1.25 for packages moving 1,500 miles and $1.50 for more than 1,500 miles. The former minimum on a transcontinental shipment was $2.50 against a present minimum of $1.50.

ANNOUNCE DATES FOR AGRICULTURE COURSE

Gus Sell, county agent, reminds Outagamie-co farm youths that the second term of the short course in agriculture at the agricultural college of the state university will start Jan. 4, 1932. Mr. Sell said that several Outagamie-co boys are enrolled in the first course, which is now in progress. V. E. Kivlin, director of the course, in a letter to Mr. Sell points out that the approximate expense for the 14 weeks' course will be $17.50 for fees, $2 per week for room and about 75 cents a day for board.

NEW BATTLE LOOMS OVER JUDGESHIP

Mitchell Says No Agreement Reached With Schall Over Appointment

Washington—(P)—The acrimonious dispute between Senator Schall and the administration over the appointment of a Minnesota federal judge may have company in the senate.

Judge Wilbur F. Booth of the Eighth Circuit Court of appeals is retiring Jan. 1 and attorney General Mitchell hopes to recommend a successor by that time.

Asked if he had agreed with the blind Minnesota senator to name Matt Joyce, attorney as federal judge in the event Judge Walter F. Sanborn of Minnesota, should succeed Booth, Mitchell answered today: "I don't agree with anybody to appoint anyone."

"I lay the information about the candidates before the president," he said, but he added "I told Senator Schall we had had a number of endorsements of Joyce."

The controversy over the naming of Gunnar H. Nordby as district judge in Minnesota meanwhile moved toward the sub-committee which failed to report favorably on the nomination last session. He was then given a recess appointment by President Hoover.

Chairman Norris of the senate judiciary committee, said today he expects to place the nomination with the sub-committee composed of Senators Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin; Steiner, Republican, Oregon and King, Democrat U.S. Senator, however, is no longer on the committee and Norris will fill the vacancy.

In a better strategic position than he was last term because of his appointment to the senate judiciary committee, Schall, a Republican, intends to do all in his power to prevent Nordby's confirmation.

PLAN TO CLEAN SCHOOL LIBRARY DURING RECESS

Practically no remodeling or construction work will be done at the college over the Christmas holidays, according to Ralph J. Wattis, business manager.

The hall of the Carnegie library will be cleaned and the walls painted, preparatory to paneling in order to facilitate the exhibition of the numerous art exhibits usually on display at the school. There will be no work other than this outside of the ordinary cleaning which is done every vacation.

Marquette Ekes Out 25 And 22 Victory Over Lawrence Quint

COLBERT GETS FIVE BASKETS FOR VIKINGS

Squad Shows Well Against Hilltop Band of Veteran Performers

BY HOWARD KLATT
OF Lawrence College
COACH Arthur C. Denney's Lawrence cagers could not shake the old Marquette jinx which has bothered them for the last few years and lost a closely contested game to the Hilltoppers last night at Milwaukee, 23 to 22. Although Marquette led at the half, 13 to 14, the final outcome of the contest was in doubt until the last seconds of play.

Big Bill Colbert easily was the most outstanding man on the floor for the Vikings and even showed versatile Whitey Budrums a few tricks in locating the hoop. Colbert was high scorer with 12 points, making four field goals in five attempts during the first half. His height made him invaluable in snatching the ball on tip offs, and his uncanny passing showed to advantage for the Dennevemen.

Neither team was successful in working set plays through their opponent's defense, and the scoring was done mostly on rebounds and long shots. Shipley and Ronzan, veteran Marquette guards, kept Hall and Colbert covered closely; at the same time the Lawrence defense lagged occasionally and left a Hilltop man open for a free shot.

Gochauer Gets Basket

Denney started Emmy Rafoth at center, Hall and Colvert at ends, and Vanderboemer and Gochauer at the guard posts. Gochauer snagged a shot from near the center of the floor to open the scoring in the first few minutes of play, but the lead was short lived. Muller was left open under the basket and made his toss good to tie the count.

The Vikings kept in front for the first ten minutes of play, but thereafter the lead alternated for the remainder of the half, never varying more than four points throughout the game. Marquette had control of the ball more than the Vikings, the latter's too frequent double dribbling and walking losing it for them.

Colbert put Lawrence ahead again by tapping a rebound for two more points, but Budrums sank two free throws soon afterward. Helped by a nice pass from Hall, Colbert then garnered another field goal. Marquette took the lead when Ronzan and Zummacch connected for two goals, the latter getting the ball on a rebound after an attempted free throw.

Hall found the hoop from around the free throw circle, but Whitey Budrums next dribbled unopposed down the side of the court for another count. As this point Denney inserted Haase for Vanderboemer at guard, and he made good on a free toss.

Colbert demonstrated something out of the ordinary in shooting when he snared an over-the-shoulder toss from the extreme left end of the floor, putting the Vikings in the lead. Zummacch, however, connected from under the basket just before the half ended.

M. T. Starts Long Shots

Soon after the opening of the second half Marquette opened with long shots, and both teams exhibited a faster hand of ball than they were playing in the first period.

Zummacch sank a long one, then Hall got a toss over the shoulder that was good, and Colbert counted on two free shots. Budrums and Ronzan got a free throw apiece, and then Gochauer, substituted for Muller, sunk a one-handed shot.

Budrums and Colbert each added a field goal to make the score 24 to 22 with three minutes to go. Ronzan added a free throw, and then Marquette stalled for the remaining two minutes, the game ending without Lawrence threatening. Denney had put Poote in at forward. Colvert going to center for Rafoth, but their combination did not last long and Rafoth went back.

PITTSBURGH CAN WIN INDIANA CAGE TITLE

Chicago.—(P)—Pittsburgh's rowing Panthers of the hardwoods have a chance of winning one of the most elusive titles in all college basketball tonight—the championship of Indiana.

They battle Purdue's Boilermakers in one of the feature cage classics of the year at LaFayette and if they win, they will have captured the strength of college basketball.

The Panthers defeated Indiana University, 29 to 24, in a thrilling overtime battle Wednesday night but the Boilermakers may not be as "easy" to overcome. The Boilermakers, led by Johnny Woodin, have displayed plenty of power in their impressive victories over Notre Dame and Washington University of St. Louis and have been labeled as one of the strongest teams in the forthcoming big ten championship race.

On the way of serving notice to 1932, the University of Iowa's freshman football team this year battled the varsity on almost even terms.

HANEGRAAFS LEAD LITTLE CHUTE LOOP

Whitey Driessen Has High Single Game Score of the Week, 236

Little Chute—The weekly match games of the Little Chute bowling league were rolled on the Hartjes alleys Monday and Tuesday evenings.

Deuces Aces broke their second place tie with the Motor Inns by drumming them three straight games. The Aces, paced by Peeters who had a 575 score, totaled 2728 pins to win all games easily. Tony's Fishers broke the three way tie for fourth place by three wins, thereby gaining undisputed third place. Hanegraaf's won three to keep their fifth game lead over the second place.

Hanegraaf's 2739 was the high team series for the week while Koehn's score of 931 was high single game.

Frank Hammel led the bowlers with 559 pins and Whitey Driessen's 236 score was good for high single game and also the week's prize.

Other 200 scores were registered by De Hertges 217, S. M. Peeters 211, Jos. Koehn 206, Harvey Hartjes 202, Frank Hammel 204, and 203.

Next week Deuces Aces will meet Hanegraaf's in a match that will do much to decide their chances of repeating for another championship.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

A. I. R. vs. Junior Bears

Warner Theatres vs. Delta Hi-Y

Two games are scheduled in the Older Boy league of the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon on the association court. The games all feature teams which have been defeated in previous contests.

The first game will show the A. I. R. five battling the Junior Bears. The Bears are given the edge to win because of a more experienced aggregation.

In the second game the Warner Theatres and the Delta Hi-Y team will have won one game and lost one. The Deltas probably will win with trouble.

Scholarship For Gridders

It is my notion that in the future instead of using the profits of the football games for the benefit of the nonplayers, we might very well set aside at least a good portion of every season's profits for scholarships for the grid players themselves.

It is a very fine gesture, and a useful one for society in general, as the mountain schools of Kentucky and elsewhere have proved to bring forth our less favored citizens and give them a chance to get an education and become more useful to society and more happy with themselves. These gestures may not last forever, though, although they should stand up fairly well for another ten years or so, and that they will not go very well if bonding neighborhood funds for the sake of individual youngsters who happen to be unlucky enough to be unable to afford to go to our schools and fit themselves for what the poor.

Such a suggestion, of course, is considerably less visionary now, though it is a weak link, in light to grow young players, players, production managers or executives.

With our scholarship out of football profits for boys who can help earn their way through schools by playing on a football team, instead of playing in the band or orchestra.

What a shadower might result would be no more extensive than we have now, anyway.

East To Be Represented By Its Strongest Team In Annual Shriners' Game

BY EDWIN R. DOOLEY

Copyright 1931

New York—(CP)—Coach Andy Kerr of Colgate will send a strong and wellrounded eleven on the field to represent the East in the Shriners East-West game on the Pacific coast on New Year's day, judging by the impressive line-up of his section eleven. No less than 15 different institutions are represented on the quad, ranging from Northwestern at Evanston to Tennessee in the south and Dartmouth in the north.

Kerr is a veteran at fashioning sectional elevens. Along with Dick Hanley of Northwestern the Colgate mentor calls together his team of outstanding players each fall and tracks across the continent to wage a friendly war with Dame Bible's Westerners. The latter, coach of Nebraska's Cornhusker outfit, has a wealth of talent to choose from this season Pacific coast football has been of a high quality this fall, judging by the brand of play demonstrated by Southern California, St. Mary's, Stanford and the teams farther north.

GREG KABAT IS NAMED CAPTAIN OF U. W. ELEVEN

Little Asks Public Refrain from "Muddying Waters" During Quiz

MADISON — (AP) — Gregory Kabat of Milwaukee was chosen captain of the 1932 University of Wisconsin football team at the annual football banquet last night.

His superior play on the varsity during the past two years made him an almost unanimous choice for the captaincy. For his outstanding work at guard he was named on the all-conference team selected by the Associated Press this year.

Kabat's versatility resulted in his being used not only as a guard but also as a punter, a kickoff man, a defensive tackle and occasionally a ball carrier. In addition he is the conference discus champion and a member of the hockey team.

Harold Smith, the retiring captain, was given an ovation when he finished his address at the banquet. Among other things, he said he hoped that next year would see few "moral victories."

Major John Griffiths, Big Ten commissioner of athletics, pointed out that the present is a time of criticism of political and business leaders as well as football leaders.

"It isn't football men who lose their sense of balance; it is sometimes the others who fall down," he said.

Major Griffiths expressed the opinion that the future of athletics was tied up with the future of the nation. He said he had implicit faith in the nation's ability to recover its balance and progress.

"Don't Muddy Waters."

George Kress, who resigned as director of athletics last Monday, expressed a desire to have the public "refrain from muddying the waters" while the university authorities are effecting new policies and a reorganization of the athletic department.

"At this time the duly constituted authorities are effecting new policies, new plans and a reorganization for the athletic department," he said.

"I hope that all of you will join me in placing full confidence in their final action, knowing that their decisions will be to the benefit of all and that their work will be made easier by our willingness to refrain from muddying the waters while this progress is being made."

"Looking back on my years in Madison I want to confide with you in reference to one expression which has frequently appeared in the press and more frequently used in conversation. I refer to the term 'character builder.' Secretly, I hope, I have been both pleased and irritated by it. My pleasure comes from my belief that no effort by mature men can equal in wealth of satisfaction that which comes from contact with young men in the development of their physical well being."

"I believe organized athletics is to day an unequalled force for building better men, better sportsmen, better characters, better business standards and better health. My life has been, and will be, devoted to that end."

"My irritation at this expression arises from its common application to the failure to win competitive games. Merit victory is not the sole aim of athletics. There is no disgrace in being beaten. As a player, as a coach, and as a director of athletics I have had but one gauge of success. Did I do my best? Did my work bring out the best in the boys? Did they justify their full capacities in the final test? But victory need not be sacrificed to character building. They should go hand in hand."

"Together they are the ultimate in organized athletics."

Thirsty Thanks Team

Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite commanded the football squad for the cooperation it had given during the past season, and pointed out that the Badgers, like every other Big Ten team, had felt the effects of a season of unusual heat and humidity, particularly by the time the charity games were played.

"Great football games in great stadia, with great crowds, gives an indispensable pageant to the college life of America," he said. "Heaven knows there is little enough of color and pageantry in American life."

KIMBERLY CLASHES WITH HORTONVILLE

Village Teams Tied for Lead in Western Section of Little 9

Kimberly—The leadership of the Western division in the Little Nine conference will change tonight for the scheduled game for a game between Hortonville and Kimberly on the latter's court. Both teams have been undefeated in past conference games and the winner of tonight will go a long way toward the conference championship.

Both squads have been impressive in opening games and because Hortonville still has four members of last year's championship team back in uniform it has a slight edge over the local cagers. The last year's champs already have a tall range team with men who are fair good shots. Coach Harper's Red Devils are a small but smooth working aggregation.

Harper places his hopes for victory in his newly developed short passing offense which has swept everything out of the way to date. The machine is responsible for 75 points in the last game with Kimberly, mentor in every practice this week has been oiling the offense. Harper also has the edge over the Hortonville ag-

Chicago — (AP) — A dozen more aspirants for the light heavyweight championship crown will open their drives in six separate eight round battles at the Chicago stadium tonight.

The struggles, with draws barred, are the second act of the national light heavyweight elimination tournament which is to crown the new king of that division by the old process of the survival of the fittest.

ORANGE CAGE SQUAD PLAYS TWO GAMES TONIGHT AT ARMY

Reserves in Curtain Raiser at Armory G Exhibition Tonight

Two games will be dished out for the fans who attend tonight's basketball exhibition at Armory G. The first game of the evening will show the high school second team and the Wolverines of the Y. M. C. A. Older Boy league, at about 7 o'clock. The second game of the evening will be the Appleton high school—Fond du Lac game, scheduled to start about 8 o'clock, or shortly thereafter.

The big game attracts most interest, of course, for it will be Appleton's second Valley conference game and one which will have much bearing on the league race.

Fond du Lac is reported to have a neat aggregation, one that was able to beat Manitowoc last week by a score of 14 and 16. The Cards did not show well in the first part of the game, but when Fadner, forward, started finding the hoop, things took on an impressive aspect.

Appleton will show the veteran aggregation that is well known to local fans and that already has won three games this winter. Ken Priebe and Bobbie Rule will work at forwards. Bill Peotter at center, and Joe Verrier and Emmett Morell at the guards.

Should any of the boys be ousted for personal fouls or become tired, Jim Murphy, guard, and Howard Bowby, forward, will be rushed into the game.

DETROIT ADDS BAT STRENGTH TO TEAM

Also Seeks Ralph Kress, Shortstop, to Help Bolster Up Infield

BY W. H. BEATTY

Associated Press Staff Writer

Detroit — (AP) — Batting strength, long a bulwark of the Detroit baseball club, is being sought for the first time in many years by President Frank Navin for the 1932 campaign.

Searching for seasoned players who can hit, Navin is carrying on negotiations with the Philadelphia Athletics for two star players.

He also is trying to make a deal for Ralph Kress, St. Louis infielder, to bolster the Tiger defense.

For years the Tigers possessed one of the most powerful attacks in the majors but lacked good pitching and tight fielding. The big hitters from Cobb to Heilmann passed in the process of reorganization. Last year the Tigers presented good baterry strength and fast fielding ability but lacked the mid-time punch.

For the first time since the records were kept, Detroit failed to show a slugger in 1931 who batted in 100 or more runs. Dale Alexander topped the Tigers with 87.

Detroit has added Jewel Ens, 1931 Pittsburgh pilot, to the coaching staff besides signing Stanley (Bucky) Harris for another manager. Ens will give particular attention to the hurling staff which will include Vic Sorrell, Earl Whitehill, Elton Hogsett, Arthur Herring, the veteran George Upton, young Ted Bridges and Walt Wyatt, who will be given a fresh trial.

HIGHER PRICES FOR SCAVENGER FISH THAN HOGS BRING

Norfolk, Neb. — (AP) — Buffalo and carp, despised scavenger fish that are raised from Nebraska lakes to protect other members of the many tribe, are high hating the hog family—a clan that usually has it all over the scavenger fish in price, looks and class.

The scavenger fish are selling at 6 cents a pound, whereas the hog brings only an average of 3 cents a pound.

The state fish and game department always finds a ready market for buffalo and carp in New York and other eastern centers.

Farmers in this vicinity are circulating petitions requesting the federal farm board to aid them in securing better prices on the hog market.

Meanwhile the Japanese are consolidating their economic position, taking control of railroads, power plants, communications and other industries. It is expected that much of the business which used to go to the western world will now be sent to Japan.

SEE CONSPIRACY IN CHICAGO MILK PRICE

Aldermanic Group Says Dealers Have "Agreement to Fix Prices"

Chicago — (P)—An aldermanic subcommittee investigating the price of milk today was on the trial of what it called a "conspiracy among milk dealers to fix the prices."

The first hearing yesterday was continued until Jan. 5 after councilmen heard representatives of dairy companies, dairy farmers, milk wagon drivers, dairy employees and consumers.

Dr. F. D. Wrennsey, president of the Borden's Products company, who was asked by Alderman John F. Healy why milk, which costs 10 cents a quart should also sell for 5 cents a pint, said that only 10 per cent of all sales were in pints, most of which were in factories and offices.

D. N. Geyer, secretary of the Pure Milk association, complained that the farmers had taken "more than their share of reduction of prices already," and that they stood to lose 10 per cent of the reduction from 10 to 12 cents a quart announced by the milk dealers.

R. G. Phaneuf, 101 of the Wagon Drivers union, said he didn't care to have the drivers' agreement with dealers disturbed until May. He said that not more than 50 drivers make more than $50 a week on their routes. The rest average from $39 to $44.

Gandhi Pitches Tent On Deck Of Italian Steamer

Steamship Pilots — (P)—Mahatma Gandhi homeward bound to India from his three months' stay in England at the second round table conference, pitched a tent on the deck Thursday to live in during the remainder of the journey.

The mahatma found the chill Mediterranean winds too severe for him and his loin cloth at night.

His odd habitation is stretched across wooden planks which cover the freight hatchway in the stern, and it has become an object of great authority for the other passengers.

The faithful Nira Behn, his pacifist disciple, watches over him while he sleeps, like a solicitous mother caring for a child. A half dozen other disciples sleep in rows nearby on bare boards. Among these are Prof. and Mrs. Raymond Privat, who left Switzerland to go to India as the mahatma's guests. Professor is the mahatma's guests. Professor Privat is a former official of the League of Nations secretariat.

The scene resembles the immigrant section at Ellis Island. Scattered helter skelter are pots, pans, spinning wheels, pails of goat's milk, baskets of fruit and vegetables, state documents, proceedings of the round table conference, loin cloths, old shoes and the mahatma's personal belongings.

Outside the tent: a big Alsatian wolf sound prowls, waiting for bones and scraps of meat which, however, the mahatma has not to give because he eats on goats' milk.

Putting the holy man's pitch, the general Italian captain of the steamer offered Gandhi a comfortable cabin but the mahatma declined to abandon his present abode.
